DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 1, 12 are objected to because of the following informalities: since “at least one rear wheel” recited in ¶ a, in ¶ b “rear wheels” should be – at least one rear wheel – (claim 1); “said position stop” should be – a position stop – (cl. 12). Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-16, 20-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Plas et al (6293077).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 28 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Plas et al (6293077) or Schmidt (5956932).

Plas or Schmidt prior art discloses the claimed invention except for arranging the hook & bail in reverse order (cl. 28).

Plas shows the bail/hook arrangement:

Schmidt shows the bail/hook arrangement:

Art Unit: 3671

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to arrange the hook & bail reversely as claimed, since it has been held that a mere reversal of the essential working parts of a device involves only routine skill in the art. In re Einstein, 8 USPQ 167.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's election of claims 1-16, 20-28 in the reply filed on 7/7/2004 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

Heretofore, the restriction deemed final.

This application contains claims 17-19 drawn to an invention nonelected. A complete reply to the rejection must include cancellation of nonelected claims.

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-16, 20-28 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. It is noted that the Application cannot be allowed with claims in "withdrawn" status.

Applicant's argument in re claim 1:

the "first section ... abuts against the frame," although, the Examiner disagrees with Applicant's contention, however, aforementioned phrase is not found in claim 1, instead the following phrase is recited & met by Plas as shown in detailed rejection above: "the first section of the bifurcated arm pivotally mounted on said frame."

Applicant's argument that the functional/intended use statement is not capable with Pas' bifurcated arm is not agreed with, since as shown in the above detailed rejection there is at least one pivot location enabling the aforementioned function.

Art Unit: 3671.

In re rest of "carte blanche" statement regarding claim 1:

Applicant's arguments fail to comply with 37 CFR 1.111(b) because they amount to a general allegation that the claims define a patentable invention without specifically pointing out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references.

Applicant's arguments do not comply with 37 CFR 1.111(c) because they do not clearly point out the patentable novelty which he or she thinks the claims present in view of the state of the art disclosed by the references cited or the objections made. Further, they do not show how the amendments avoid such references or objections.

In re claim 2:

It is unclear how the "generally parallelogram configuration" is not met by Plas. The Examiner further detailed above in the hopes of reinforcing earlier Examiner's earlier rejection.

In re regarding claim 3-8, applicant did not provide any specifics and arguments how Plas would not meet the claimed structural features, therefore:

Applicant's arguments fail to comply with 37 CFR 1.111(b) because they amount to a general allegation that the claims define a patentable invention without specifically pointing out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references.

Art Unit: 3671

Applicant's arguments do not comply with 37 CFR 1.111(c) because they do not clearly point out the patentable novelty which he or she thinks the claims present in view of the state of the art disclosed by the references cited or the objections made. Further, they do not show how the amendments avoid such references or objections.

In re claim 9:

Applicant appears to argue that a "height adjust mechanism" that "operates in conjunction with the support structure" (assuming that this referring to claim 1 "support structure").

In re the rest of the arguments, the Applicant states "Claim 1 calls for ...," it is unclear if the Applicant intends to argue claim 1 or claim 9.

In re claims 10-16:

Applicant appears to argue that claims 10-16 include a structure not shown by Plas, namely a stop pin, however only claim 12 recites: "stop arm ... position stop includes a pin" which is met by Plas as further detailed above.

In re claims 20-27:

Applicant refers to Applicant's figure to point to referenced structures not shown, however the claim language of claims 20-27 should be pointed out which differ from Plas, which is shown in greater detail above. It is noted that some of the basic structure already provided for in re earlier claims.

In re claim 28, as now amended:

Examiner reviewed Applicant's amendment, however did not find that it would overcome Plas and/or Schmidt, since the deck is pivotally joined to the frame, and the functional/intended use statement is capable to be performed by either Plas or Schmidt, i.e. the "to allow said deck to pivot and rotate ... relative to said frame." The bail & hook arrangement of Plas & Schmidt is for unhooking the mower, and it does not require complete disassembly as argued by the Applicant.

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

Art Unit: 3671

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
